

ETCETERA LIVING

If you haven't already heard of Lesley Zaal and Marie-Inez Botha, the duo behind the interior design practice ETCETERA LIVING, take note because you will be hearing about them a whole lot more. With their work on Al Barari and the high-profile Nurai Island in Abu Dhabi, the designers have already scored highly among clients who want a chic and comfortable home. With their design philosophy of keeping the clutter at bay and maintaining simplicity, the designers believe that less is more. However, it's the little objects and details that they feel gives a space the much-needed personal touch. So sourcing unique items from the markets of Fez to 'antique street' in Saigon, is all in a day's job for the pair. Ask them who would be their choice if they could design one high-profile home and the reply is pretty much reflective of their sensibilities: Barack and Michelle Obama – the world's most powerful couple, known for their sense of style. +971 (0)4 344 8868; www.etceteraliving.com
